

We can choose to use our growing knowledge to enslave people in ways never dreamed of before, de-personalizing them, controlling them by means so carefully selected that they will perhaps never be aware of their loss of personhood.

Carl Rogers, psychologist.

FREEDOM INFORMATION: Freedom to hold and express an opinion are fundamental rights enshrined in law in many countries for the benefit of all. Opposing opinions expressed with respect from each person's perspective should (in an ideal society) provide reasonable data for peaceful and lawful resolution. Unfortunately the enemy of this idealistic scenario is the all pervasive propaganda of self-centred individuals and self-interested groups. Time and again throughout history we see the decimation of civilization and peaceful cohabitation by the desire for power of individuals and people groups whose sole aim is to conquer others and take spoil. Race against race, religion against religion, the weak covet power and the strong monopolize control until atheism through Social Darwinism murdered over 100 million ordinary people in the twentieth century alone. The world after the Second World War was stunned at the insanity of mass propaganda that brought about mass destruction, mass murder, and the imminent peril of nuclear annihilation that lingers until this very day. In an ideal society we are all bound to our material world for the satisfaction of our basic human necessities like water, food and shelter, but what we consume for pleasure is a matter of choice. Consider then, who or what dictates our likes and dislikes? Who is it that controls the information we receive to even be able to make informed choices and form opinions in the first place? This is where real power and real control lies. Whoever controls the mass media, controls the individuals that depend upon them - and by extension the democracies that stem from individual opinion and decisions made at the ballot box.

But then came the Internet as a medium of information for the masses. At last freedom of information seemed guaranteed and was no longer the sole province of controlling mass media monopolies. At last individuals could disseminate information and opinion until someone spilled the beans that your data usage has been recorded for years and instantly privacy for the masses died. There is more power in personal privacy and in the retention of personal information than in disseminating reams and reams of opinion into the vastness of Facebook and the Internet. Information is power. Privacy of personal information is power retained. Your personal data attained by others is power lost by you and control of you gained by them. You now exercise your mind on the Internet in a controlled environment that can be manipulated at the whim of people who desire power over you. Now just who are 'they'? Are 'they' the police, foreign powers or just advertising moguls? Are they the NSA, KGB, MI5, Mossad, ASIO perhaps? 'They' can be all of the above and much more. In Australia until recently most Local Councils had access to your Internet data for years and mined collateral data to govern wifi usage, orchestrate local public opinion and approval for public spending and so on. Superficially on the back of this comes the ability for criminals to compromise Councils to find vulnerable young people to enlist in drug cultures and sexual perversion. Elderly people's health records can be troled so their homes can be targeted for appropriation by 'developers'. Alternatively a City Council compromised by corrupt officers could be used by self interested networking power groups who are agitating for a one-sided, brainless world and their own self empowerment in it. Vulnerable people would have their data mined and could then be targeted as troops for the cause. Most probably these agitators would envisage themselves to be an 'Alternative Socialist' or a 'New Atheist Network' or perhaps just another self-hating 'Hetrophobic Lobby.' All of these groups see themselves as superior in evolution to ordinary people whom they despise as just the nameless, faceless masses whose opinions can be shaped, enlisted, used and disposed of as atheism has done since the 'Enlightenment' began. But even these examples of self centred power brokers are not the worst case scenario.

The worst outcome by far is what has actually happened. By surfing the Internet people have provided a data wake of past expressions of personal information requirements, (purchases, personal interests, including natural curiosities, quirky inclinations in whatever gives them pleasure). The past direction of your curiosity gives profilers a window into your life that reveals a very intimate governing aspect of your existence called your subconscious mind. Computerized behavioural psychoanalysis, (an algorithm) then paints a picture of who you are, why you are what you are - and why you purchase what you consume for personal pleasure. This information from all users of the Internet is then collated and made available to advertisers, governments and who knows how many unlicensed, unwanted predatorial individuals and groups who are seeking to achieve power and monopolize wealth. You have handed over the keys of your privacy and become captive to a life orchestrated by others. You are contained by having divulged what is intimate and beyond even your own ability to know and control, and handed it to 'others' who now know you and control you far better than you can know and control yourself. A past profile makes your future choices predictable. So now mass media input into the world can be tested for desired effectiveness through the immediate surveillance of people's responses on news feeds, Facebook and Twitter. It can then be adjusted for a more perfect outcome until desired uniformity of majority opinion is acquired globally. Today your Internet window into the world has become a peep hole for the rich and the powerful into your prison cell. Its called liquid surveillance, but be consoled. You're not the only one. The whole world has gone the same path and that is what makes a pinnacle of global political propaganda and economic exploitation possible. The promised 'Road Ahead' that was meant to give the world 'freedom' became a path to global mental, emotional and physical imprisonment. This is the greater corporate evil that has changed the world forever.

There is only one alternative and only one way of escape. It is founded on pure truth and pure reason that does not accept scientific theories and speculation as fact. For example the information in the first cell, (the progenitor cell) at the very beginning of your human existence at conception can't happen by chance. It is predictive information for physical outcome. In other words if your mother's egg cleaved together around the first two progenitor cells to become two eggs, then you would have been born with an identical twin! Why? Because the information in each progenitor cell would have been the same plan for physical outcome. A person is created in the gestational duration of their mother's womb by singular cell duplication from the first cell to around 70 trillion cells at birth nine months later. Each cell whether it becomes a part of the hair, skin, blood, optical nerve, eye cornea or brain neuron is defined in the information of the very first progenitor cell. The entire physical outcome of all organic life be it plants, animals or people are physically, 'what they are' because of initial DNA information. Moreover there is in all the world a co-dependency of all organic life. A baby when born must be fed other organic matter to live and grow. That is the genetic program. The mutual co-dependency of all life to grow and multiply from complex stem cell information is pure and perfect evidence for an Omniscent, Omnipotent (all knowing and all powerful) God who created all things by the power of his Word, (information).

Information that is posted on the Internet is created by intelligence, delivered to your computer by intelligence, for your intelligent assessment and your assessment and reaction is then examined by another external intelligence. Likewise information written into the DNA molecule for all organic life forms easily proves the existence of an Almighty God. Our intelligence is created by God for the benefit of his creation but intelligence that seeks to empower itself through political propaganda and economic exploitation is aberrant to God's intended purpose because of something called 'conscience' either good or bad. To believe in one Almighty God is the first step out of your information prison that has been construed around you by the people who have mastered you and that are trying to be an all knowing and all seeing 'god' in control of your life. So then our physical existence, our bodies are created and sustained by information that comes from the Word of God. Our conscience comes to us in the same way. When a little baby is born it has no conscience as to what is right or wrong. It is totally dependant from conception throughout gestation and even after it is born on the instinctive conscience of its parents. So beyond the co-dependency of all organic life there is a 'co-responsibility' of conscience for life, reproduction, survival and mutual support. uman life we have an extension to instinctive conscience that makes us different from the animals. It is a God given ability to add one plus one to equal two. We have an ability and freedom to make right choices. This works and that doesn't. Now it would be morally wrong to teach a child that one plus one equals three. So we see in all the technology of engineering and architecture an outward explosion of conscience that creates not just the cities of the world with our transport and communications - but the moral codes that sustain our civilizations as well. When we get the calculations wrong our buildings fall down and our planes crash. When we get the moral code wrong, we go to war and the outcome of the last World War is that we now have the scientific ability to burn up our world and everything in it. Worse than that, since 2010 mankind has the ability to mutate the genetic construction of a simple bird flu virus to make it transmissible from mammal to mammal. This would kill an estimated one billion mammals in the first year of release. At some point we have to use the power of choice to make moral code decisions that wont destroy everything and everyone. Sadly people in prison cells of their own making don't get any choice. To survive you must first break out of the prison, but like a bird bred and kept in a cage - so many people on the Internet cant even comprehend their captivity or the danger that their ignorance entails. Suppose in the not too distant future there were a group of people who decided that there are too many carbon emitting citizens in the world as well as too many carbon emitting cities. They're not environmental terrorists as such, just incredibly powerful people who don't see the need for so many ordinary people or perhaps they just prefer wild animals. The Internet gives the ability to orchestrate world opinion to sustain mutual mass annihilation of ordinary people through a simple algorithm that pits one people group against another people group,

Church against Church, or person against person. The equation goes something like this in your penitentiary world:

<MASS MEDIA INPUT + INTERNET OUTPUT>

= PROFILED INDIVIDUAL AND GROUP PREDICTABILITY

<PREDICTABILITY + PERSONALIZED PRECISION PROPAGANDA >

= ENTRAPMENT = GLOBAL CONFORMITY TO PLAN

= SLAVERY AND DEATH

All that 'people in power' have to do is add environmental factors, i.e. 'nationalism', /China, /Iran, /Pakistan, /Russia, /Syria, /India VRS 'other nationalism', /America, /Europe /Saudi Arabia, /Israel = kaboom kaboom. Like petrol on a fire by feeding people what they inwardly want to hear - the algorithm does the rest. People who are made predictable through propaganda, having been profiled through Internet usage become slaves to the system and are expendable. So what's new? People in power who want to wage war to enlarge personal empowerment have made these decisions since the first cities were built in the Euphrates valley thousands of years ago. More recently when unconscionable atheism through social Darwinism murdered 100 million people in the twentieth century - all 'they' had in terms of mass media were newspapers, newsreels and educational institutions. Data acquisition and profiling were done through the note taking of secret police interrogators and their psychoanalysts. Today the input of visual mass media is all encompassing and all powerful. Through Internet usage people themselves provide the data for personal, en masse profiling while the personal algorithm does the work of the secret police.

There is only one alternative and only one way of escape. Firstly you have to believe in the overwhelming evidence for an Almighty God. Secondly you have to allow information from Him, (His Word) to govern your decision making and your conscience. Our moral dilemma is that we are born independent from His moral perfections. God created us by his Word and by the same Word gave us our conscience which is an ability to choose good over evil that we might be loved by God and be able to express our love to Him and one another. We must reconcile ourselves to the God who created us from dust and whose perfection in love and justice is offended at our hatred and immorality knowing that God loves to forgive sinners. These are the first two keys to escape the prison of the Internet.

The third and final key is called sacrifice. Individual real Christian self-sacrifice (for the sake of Christ) has been the moral centre and core of developing civilizations for centuries. It was the sole opposition to the all pervasive propaganda of self-centred individuals and self-interest groups. It simply put them to shame. There is a growing number of ordinary Christians who although largely unseen in the electronic world, are joining hearts and hands, face to face to effect a Kingdom not based on human power or control. Their Kingdom is not of this world, yet it is found on the streets in nearly every city. This Kingdom can only be entered by a heart conversion to the cause and person of Jesus Christ who being the immortal Word of God, became mortal flesh. That conversion brings with it a different Spirit and a brand new heart - totally unrelated to the observable Godless, Darwinian satisfaction of Freudian pleasure in animal instinct. It is based on an awareness of an unseen spiritual God revealed only by his Word and a restored freewill that holds sacrificial love and respect for others regardless of race, social status or even the physical difference of male and female. Jesus said in John 3:7...

Do not marvel that I said to you, 'You must be born again.' The wind blows where it wishes, and you hear its sound, but you do not know where it comes from or where it goes. So it is with everyone who is born of the Spirit."

There is a definite unpredictability about people who are not interested in the propaganda and entertainment of this world but whose main concern in life is to fulfil the command of Jesus their Lord to preach the Good News of reconciliation between God and man in all the world. Jesus continues to say in John 3:16...

For God so loved the world, that he gave his only Son, that whoever believes in him should not perish but have eternal life. For God did not send his Son into the world to condemn the world, but in order that the world might be saved through him. Whoever believes in him is not condemned, but whoever does not believe is condemned already, because he has not believed in the name of the only begotten Son of God.

In Jesus Christ, the Word of God that made us and gives us a conscience - became flesh. As the Word of God that condemns us in our flesh for our moral corruption, he in his physical body is condemned in our place. As the Word of God he was God's 'sentence of death' on all flesh and in his flesh was sentenced to death in our place. God the Father literally sacrifices his Word, to save us all from the wages of sin that is death. More than that, Jesus who became sin for us and quite literally takes the blame for having made us in His image as people with a freewill who can of conscience choose to love or disobey God. Much, much more than just dying for the lost - he rose to life from the grave in victory over sin and death. In the physical life of Jesus Christ, Immortality put on mortality that we who are mortal and believe in Him may one day be resurrected in immortal bodies to be with Him forever more. The personal empowerment of the Internet is easily sacrificed for Him who loved us and gave His life for us. Jesus also says in John 3:19...

And this is the judgment: the light has come into the world, and people loved the darkness rather than the light because their works were evil. For everyone who does wicked things hates the light and does not come to the light, lest his works should be exposed. But whoever does what is true comes to the light, so that it may be clearly seen that his works have been carried out in God.

The Way of escape from your electronic prison and the predictability of your soul in an entertainment driven and pleasure seeking Internet world is to sacrifice it daily. TV, phone, Internet connect - whatever binds us to digitally provided pleasure - minimize it to the best of your ability. News and entertainment make of zero effect on your psyche. Jesus tells us to take up our cross and follow him every day. He is our example of personal sacrifice. Of all the leaders, of all the different religions, politics or cultures in history - Jesus alone told his followers to put away swords for sacrificial love. He says we are to, 'love our enemies.' That means to take responsibility for the welfare of people who are in opposition to the simple Gospel of Jesus Christ. God our Father is a Spirit and if you belong to Him, you are spiritual and unpredictable in the direction of your life. Heaven has entered your heart and will be yours in eternity to come. May your repentance and conversion dear reader, from the carnal mind to the Mind of Christ via the Word of God, (the Lord Jesus Christ) be a wall between your heart and the controlling mind power of propaganda, national or international. Swear your allegiance to Christ alone. If you read a Bible and pray to Him, He will speak to you. God bless.
